

Daniel Murga

Lab 5 Report

If allowed to use the built in binary operator precedence in Yacc, depending on the list of operators following the specific rule, at the top of the yacc file we would use %left or %right and the specific tokens we are associating with the precedence. This would remove the need for manually creating precedence by using an expanding operator rule that matches the highest precedence first.